ABSTRACT

Prepared by the Social and Rehabilitation Service of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, this publication contains annotations of 5,412 rehabilitation research and demonstration projects authorized from 1955 to 1968 by the 1954 Amendments to the Vocational Rehabilitation Act and 143 cooperative research and demonstration projects authorized from 1962 to 1968 by Title XI, Section 1110 of the Social Security Act, as amended. The rehabilitation projects are grouped into 21 sections, and each annotation includes the name and address of the grantee, the project director, and a brief description of the project purpose. Also included are topical and numerical indexes. The cooperative projects are listed in numerical order, and each annotation contains the name and location of the grantee, the project director, title, and the expected completion date. Copies of completed projects are available from the institution or agency listed for the project. (SB)

INTRODUCTION

On August 15, 1967, the Vocational Rehabilitation Administration, Welfare Administration, Children's Bureau and Administration on Aging were reorganized to form the Social and Rehabilitation Service. Under the reorganization, the Division of Research and Demonstration Grants was enlarged and now consists of four branches - Rehabilitation Research Branch, Cooperative Research Grants Branch, Demonstration Grants Branch, and Research Utilization Branch. The projects presented in this book are research and demonstrations authorized by the 1954 Amendments to the Vocational Rehabilitation Act and administered by the Rehabilitation Research Branch (Part I), and projects authorized by Title XI, Section 1110 of the Social Security Act, as Amended, and administered by the Cooperative Research Grants Branch (Part II).

Background Information

The research and demonstration program administered by the Rehabilitation Research Branch, Division of Research and Demonstration Grants, Social and Rehabilitation Service, was authorized by Section 4a(1) of the 1954 Amendments to the Vocational Rehabilitation Act. Grants are awarded to public and private nonprofit agencies in partial support of research and demonstration projects which promise some unique contribution to present knowledge of rehabilitation theory or practice. The purposes of the program are: (a) the development of new or improved information, methods, and devices for use by the several disciplines in the rehabilitation of physically or mentally handicapped individuals; (b) increasing the effectiveness of existing programs and stimulating community cooperation and support; and (c) providing new professional information and ideas to administrators to aid in developing and expanding programs for the handicapped. Project applications are reviewed by the National Advisory Council on Vocational Rehabilitation which advises the Administrator in making grant awards.

The Cooperative Research and Demonstration Grants program was authorized in 1956 by Section 1110, Title XI, of the Social Security Act, as Amended. Grants are made to States, public and other nonprofit organizations to pay part of the costs of research and demonstration projects. The purpose of this program is to add to existing knowledge and to devise and evaluate new approaches to (a) the prevention and reduction of economic dependency; (b) the more effective organization, coordination and administration of social welfare and of social security programs; and (c) other problems related to the provision of medical and social service programs authorized by the Social Security Act.

Detailed information about these programs may be obtained by writing to the Chief, Division of Research and Demonstration Grants, Social and Rehabilitation Service, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington, D. C. 20201.

Annotated Listing

The Social and Rehabilitation Service is pleased to present this fifth revision of the Annotated Listing which includes all projects approved since the inauguration of the rehabilitation research and demonstration program in March 1955 to January 1968 and for the first time a listing of the cooperative research and demonstration projects approved from 1962 to March 1968.

The Rehabilitation Research Projects are grouped into 21 sections as shown in Part I of the Table of Contents. In assigning a project to a section, priority has been given to the appropriate or related disability grouping (Sections I-XI); the remainder of the projects have been placed in one of the selected program areas (Sections XII-XXI).

Selected Demonstration Projects are listed separately at the end of appropriate sections. These projects are demonstrations conforming to prototypes derived from successful demonstrations previously supported by the Vocational Rehabilitation Administration. They provided a means of putting into operation improved methods in many different parts of the country. These projects have now been discontinued as a part of the research and demonstration program and transferred to the State vocational rehabilitation programs.

Projects are listed only once, in numerical order within each section--there are no cross references. The following information is presented: name and address of the grantee, the project director, and a brief description of the project purpose. In addition, there is a numerical series in parentheses which indicates first the number of the project--recently approved projects are followed by a letter designating the general category in which the project falls, i.e., medical (M), psycho-social (P), sensory (S), or general (G). Indicated second is the fiscal year activated, and, third, the anticipated duration. For example: (2042-M-66-4) refers to project number 2042 in the medical category which began operation in 1966 and is expected to be active for four years. An asterisk follows the numerical series for those projects which have been completed.

There is a topical index beginning on page 223, giving page references for projects related to 197 subjects including those listed in the Table of Contents. A numerical index is provided on pages 213 - 222.

The Cooperative Research and Demonstration Projects are listed in numerical order beginning on page 229. The following information is presented: name and location of grantee, the project director, title of project and the expected completion date for the project.

Upon completion of each project, a final report is prepared by the grantee giving the results of the investigation or demonstration. Copies of these reports may be obtained by writing direct to the institution or agency at the address shown in this volume.

To evaluate the effect of employment on 1,000 cardiac patients whose work tolerance has been prescribed by a cardiac work classification unit.

To identify the possible medical, social, vocational and psychiatric factors related to unsuccessfully vocationally adjusted cardiac patients.

To develop a coordinated evaluation program of the physiological and bio-physical procedure used in the rehabilitation of individuals with severe neuromuscular, respiratory and circulatory disabilities.

To study the fluctuation ranges of cardiac effort for various types of vocational activities and activities of daily living.

To analyze and correlate data in the vocational adjustment and personal characteristics of about 1,000 persons seen by a cardiac work classification unit.

To demonstrate the feasibility of centrally coordinated existing facilities and services in the rehabilitation and home care of persons disabled by cardiovascular diseases.

To study and identify the effects of training and other factors on cardiac patients before, during and after a program of rehabilitation.

Massachusetts General Hospital
Fruit Street
Boston, Massachusetts 02114
Donald S. Pierce, M.D. (1614-65-3)

To study the electrical characteristics of single motor units and single muscle fibers in neuromuscular diseases.

Duke University School of Medicine
Durham, North Carolina 27706
Saul Boyarsky, M.D. (1823-65-1)*

To hold a conference on research in neurogenic bladder diseases.

Texas Rehabilitation Center of Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation
Gonzales, Texas 78629
Marjorie Kirkpatrick, M.D.
(1860-66-3)

To demonstrate the extent to which quadriplegics can be made self-supporting if optimum opportunity for development of their vocational skills is provided in a residential workshop setting offering necessary medical care, able-bodied assistance and suitable social living.

Duke University
Durham, North Carolina 27706
B. S. Nashold, Jr., M.D., and John D. Riebel, R.P.T.
(1862-66-1)*

To evaluate the effectiveness of appropriate medical and surgical therapies as a means of rehabilitating people with extrapyramidal muscular rigidity and/or tremor.

VI. NEUROLOGICAL DISORDERS (Others) (cont.)

Albert Einstein College of Medicine
Morris Park Avenue
New York, New York 10461
Richard M. Herman, M.D.
(1863-66-3)

To study the nature of spasticity, rigidity and contracture by modern instrumentation to develop an objective method for evaluating the effectiveness of physical, pharmacological and surgical treatment methods in patients with disabling spasticity and rigidity.

University of Virginia
Charlottesville, Virginia 22903
T. R. Johns, M.D. (1866-66-3)

To determine the location and type of defect in myasthenia gravis and similar myopathies--the first phase in establishing the pathological physiology of various disorders of the motor unit.

University of Virginia
Charlottesville, Virginia 22903
George R. Hanna, M. D. (1870-66-3)

To investigate the precise distribution of fiber projections of the ventro-lateral thalamic nucleus to motor cortex in experimental animals - the first phase in a continuing study of motor systems to increase understanding needed to improve the management and rehabilitation of persons with diseases of the nervous system and the brain damaged.

Baylor University College of Medicine
1200 Moursund Avenue
Houston, Texas 77025
David Cardus, M. D. (1871-66-3)

To study the effect of paralysis on the gross composition of the human body, and to provide data that will serve as a basis for the study and interpretation of body composition changes in patients bedridden from chronic illness not accompanied by paralysis.

Trustees of Tufts College
Ballou Hall
Tufts University
Medford, Massachusetts 02155
Sanford J. Freedman, Ph.D. (1890-66-2)*

To conduct basic studies in sensori-motor coordination; to study the plasticity and limits for visual-motor, auditory-motor, and kinesthetic-motor coordination in man.

(1) To carry on additional experiments on peripheral nerve grafting, studying factors which inhibit functional return and attacking these mechanisms, and (2) carry out work on spinal cord regeneration through reduction of scar and insuring that axons bridge the lesion.

University of California, L.A.
405 Hilgard Avenue
Los Angeles, California 90024
Wm. E. Fowler, Jr., M.D. (1990-M-66-3)

To define the neuromuscular factors which are important for various types of tasks in the disabled and to develop predictive laboratory tests for these factors.

New England Medical Center Hospitals
171 Harrison Avenue
Boston, Massachusetts 02111
Henry M. Wise, Jr., M.D. (1993-M-66-3)

To record and analyze alterations in the physiology of the urinary bladder in patients with neurologic disease or injury and to evaluate the mechanical effect of various medical and surgical techniques.

Trustees of Tufts College
Ballou Hall
Tufts University
Medford, Massachusetts 02155
S. J. Freedman, Ph.D. (2092-P-66-1)

To hold a conference on the neuropsychology of perceptual-motor processes and relationship to rehabilitation problems in hemiplegia.

Attend. Staff Assn. of Rancho
Los Amigos Hospital, Inc.
7601 E. Imperial Highway
Downey, California 90242
Vernon L. Nickel, M.D. (2114-M-66-3)

To demonstrate the value and function of a regional rehabilitation center for spinal cord injured persons.

Stanford University
Stanford, California 94304
A. M. Iannone, M. D. (2152-M-66-3)

To investigate two determinants to patterned peripheral motor activity in normal and hemiplegic individuals.

VI. NEUROLOGICAL DISORDERS (Others) (cont.)

Texas Inst. for Rehabilitation and Research
1333 Moursund Avenue
Houston, Texas 77025
W. A. Spencer, M.D. (2176-M-66-1)*

To conduct a research conference on the rehabilitation of persons with stroke.

Rehabilitation Institute, Inc.
261 Mack Boulevard
Detroit, Michigan 48201
Jos. N. Schaeffer, M.D. (2215-M-67-3)

To evaluate and refine remedial training techniques for residual deficits in sensory, perceptual, conceptual and motor function after stroke resulting in left hemiplegia.

New York Univ. Medical Center
550 First Avenue
New York, New York 10016
Albert Haas, M.D. (2230-M-67-3)

To determine by laboratory and clinical investigation the effect of continuous oxygen therapy on patients with cerebral-vascular accidents.

New York Medical College
1 E. 106th Street
New York, New York 10029
Osvaldo Miglietta, M.D. (2232-M-67-2)

To clarify and define the action of cold in spasticity; evaluate therapeutic effect of ultrasound in spasticity;
explore characteristics of the peripheral nerves in upper and lower extremities.

Long Island Jewish Hospital
Queens General Hospital
82-68 164th Street
Jamaica, New York 11432
A. J. Berman, M. D. (2282-M-66-1)*

A pilot investigation of the functional relationships between motor performance and the physical requirements of motor (tracking) tasks, more specifically, the ability of patients with certain disabling conditions to utilize cutaneous and proprioceptive cues.

Louisiana State University and A & M College
Baton Rouge, Louisiana 70803
Eugene F. Tims, D. Sc. (2312-M-67-3)

To study instrumentation techniques, develop and test prototypes for use in preventing deformity of insensitive limbs as well as in rehabilitating those already deformed.

San Juan, Puerto Rico 00922
Carlos T. Armstrong Ressay, M. D.
(2732-M-68-1)

To prepare a scientific exhibit to illustrate the correlation between electro-myographic findings and muscle biopsy findings in the diagnosis of different neuromuscular diseases.

Plays for the Living
Family Service Assn. of America
44 East 23rd Street
New York, New York 10010
Clare M. Tousley (RC-26-64-1)*

To develop an educational and informative theatrical production demonstrating the effectiveness of the rehabilitation process in the vocational rehabilitation of stroke patients.

VII. ORTHOPEDIC DISORDERS

RESEARCH OR DEMONSTRATION

University of Connecticut
Storrs, Connecticut 06268
Elizabeth E. May, Ed.D. (37-55-5)*

To facilitate the rehabilitation of orthopedically handicapped homemakers by developing simplified methods and equipment for performing the activities required in the care of young children.

New York University Medical Center
550 First Avenue
New York, New York 10016
A. S. Russek, M. D. (189-57-2)*

To determine the effectiveness of modern prosthetic team procedures through a follow-up study of the experiences, problems and needs of former amputee patients.

Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago
401 East Ohio Street
Chicago, Illinois 60611
Joseph H. Chivers, M. D.
(199-58-3)*

To establish a regional facility to serve the needs of amputees and other disabled from a number of States who require specialized prosthetic services.

University of Michigan Research Institute
Ann Arbor, Michigan 48103
J. W. Rae, Jr., M. D. (216-58-5)*

To study the design prescription and use of adaptive or assistive devices in the treatment and vocational rehabilitation of severely handicapped persons.

Institute for the Crippled and Disabled
400 First Avenue
New York, New York 10009
James N. Burrows (261-58-1)*

To develop a research program for the improvement of pneumatic powered devices for upper extremity disabilities.

University of California Medical Center
San Francisco, California 94122
Verne T. Inman (262-58-2)*

To study biomechanical problems in the fitting of prostheses to below knee amputees.

American Institute for Prosthetic
Research
400 First Avenue
New York, New York 10010
Henry H. Kessler, M.D. (293-58-6)*

To develop and improve pneumatic powered devices for use with upper extremity appliances and braces.

San Francisco, California 94122
Verne T. Inman, M. D. (458-60-3)*

To evaluate the effectiveness of medical services provided persons with orthopedic disabilities in relation to their vocational adjustment.

To develop an objective personality test to predict readiness for prosthetic and orthotic rehabilitation.

To study the phenomenon of phantom limbs and appendages as it relates to personal, social and vocational adjustment.

To determine the status of pros-thetic and orthotic services currently available in the rehabilitation of orthopedically disabled persons.

To determine the effects of prosthesis wearing in the rehabilitation of older amputees with peripheral vascular insufficiency.

To study specific problems related to the post-operative and post-injury rehabilitation of the knee.

To develop an information and educational exhibit demonstrating prosthetic and orthotic techniques used in this country in the vocational rehabilitation of the orthopedically handicapped.

To develop improved prostheses of greater efficiency and new or improved fitting techniques in the rehabilitation of lower extremity amputees.

VII. ORTHOPEDIC DISORDERS (cont.)

University of California Medical Center
San Francisco, California 90022
Verne T. Inman, M. D. (459-60-2)*

An investigation into the cause and treatment of post-traumatic epidermoid cysts which increasingly hinder the vocational rehabilitation of leg amputees.

University of California Medical Center
San Francisco, California 94122
Verne T. Inman, M.D. (460-60-3)*

To determine energy expenditure levels during locomotion in various types of disabilities which will have applicability in the prescribing of rehabilitation treatment, including assistive devices, to minimize the work burden on the disabled person.

Crippled Children's Hospital and School
2500 Block West 26th Street
Sioux Falls, South Dakota 57105
E. B. Morrison, Ph.D. (497-60-1)*

To plan a comparative study of the social and emotional maturation of orthopedically handicapped adolescents in a residential setting and in family settings in order to meet better the rehabilitation needs of this group.

Attending Staff Association of the
Rancho Los Amigos Hospital, Inc.
7601 East Imperial Highway
Downey, California 90242
Vernon L. Nickel, M.D. (518-60-4)*

To investigate and demonstrate sources of external power for upper extremity orthotic devices.

Baylor University College of Medicine
1200 M. D. Anderson Boulevard
Houston, Texas 77025
William A. Spencer, M.D.
(542-60-4)*

To develop and evaluate functional orthotic equipment for persons with severe upper extremity paralysis and to investigate sources of external power for such equipment.

Harvard University
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138
R. A. McFarland, Ph.D. (592-61-4)*

To evaluate the ability of amputees to operate trucks or other transport equipment.

New York University College of Engineering
252 Seventh Avenue
New York, New York 10019
Sidney Fishman, Ph.D. (692-61-3)*

An investigation of factors which influence functional efficiency and comfort of leg braces prescribed for orthopedically disabled persons.

VII. ORTHOPEDIC DISORDERS (cont.)

Case Institute of Technology
University Circle
Cleveland, Ohio 44106
James B. Reswick, Sc.D. (766-61-3)*

To determine the feasibility of an electronic digitally programmed control in orthoses and prostheses as an aid to the severely disabled.

Case Institute of Technology
University Circle
Cleveland, Ohio 44106
J. B. Reswick, Sc.D. (767-61-1)*

To investigate the development of synthetic muscle motors to power artificial limbs and braces used in the rehabilitation of the orthopedically disabled.

New York Service for Orthopedically Handicapped
853 Broadway
New York, New York 10003
Miss Margold V. Nash (808-62-3)

A demonstration and evaluation of the use of foster homes and housekeeping apartments in the rehabilitation of persons with severe orthopedic disabilities as an alternative to prolonged institutional care.

The Eugene duPont Memorial Hospital and Rehabilitation Center
3506 Kennet Pike
Wilmington, Delaware 19807
Arthur J. Heather, M.D. (851-62-1)*

To investigate and develop a hydraulically operated elbow mechanism attached to a brace for persons with flail upper extremities due to paralysis.

New York University College of Engineering
University Heights
Bronx, New York 10053
Renato Contini and Rudolfs Drillis (886-62-2)*

To develop methods and procedures for accurately determining basic body segment parameters and to apply these procedures in the development of uniform data for use in artificial limb and brace research, as well as a diagnostic tool in physical medicine.

University of California Medical Center
San Francisco, California 94122
Verne T. Inman, M.D. (924-62-3)*

To determine the validity of principles of prescription for new orthotic devices which would be used in the rehabilitation of orthopedically handicapped persons.

State University of Iowa
Department of Orthopedic Surgery
Iowa City, Iowa 52240
A. E. Flatt, M.D. (1015-63-3)*

To demonstrate a method of rehabilitation of the hands of rheumatoid arthritic patients by use of hand surgery including the replacement of diseased joints by metallic prostheses.

VII. ORTHOPEDIC DISORDERS (cont.)

Highland View Hospital
3901 Ireland Drive
Cleveland, Ohio 44122
Charles Long, M.D. (1109-63-3)*

To study relationship of EMG, torque and tonus and to define relationship between forces required to produce motion and the electromyographic output of the muscles producing the motion.

University of California Medical Center
San Francisco, California 94122
Charles W. Radcliffe (1111-63-3)*

To continue and expand studies to develop improved prostheses of greater efficiency and new or improved fitting techniques in the rehabilitation of lower extremity amputees.

University of California Medical Center
San Francisco, California 94122
Henry J. Ralston, Ph.D.
(1112-63-3)*

To determine the energy expenditure during locomotion of both normal individuals and those with certain types of disabilities.

University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, North Carolina 27515
Erle E. Peacock, Jr., M.D.
(1120-62-3)*

To provide pre- and post-operative care in cases of restorative hand surgery and to evaluate the effect of such care in mobilizing inter-phalangeal joint contractures.

New York University College of Engineering
University Heights
Bronx, New York 10453
Sidney Fishman, Ph.D. (1194-63-1)*

To provide systematic and scientific evaluation of new or experimental prosthetic and orthotic devices, techniques, and procedures.

University of California
405 Hilgard Avenue
Los Angeles, California 90024
John Lyman, Ph.D. (1201-63-3)*

To study arm prostheses sensory-motor control problems, evaluating conventional and externally-powered systems in order to advance engineering design criteria.

Duke University
Durham, North Carolina 27706
J. Leonard Goldner, M.D.
(1363-64-3)*

To study fabrication, utilization and effect of interim prostheses in the form of plaster and plastic pylon types for above and below knee amputees.

The George Washington University
Washington, D. C. 20006
Louis De Pian and
Thomas Wiggins (1450-64-1)*

A pilot study to develop a prototype for a one-handed automobile control.

VII. ORTHOPEDIC DISORDERS (cont.)

Attending Staff Association of the
Rancho Los Amigos Hospital, Inc.
7601 East Imperial Highway
Downey, California 90242
Vernon L. Nickel, M.D. (1461-64-5)

To develop externally powered orthotic devices that will provide severely paralyzed persons with voluntary arm motion through the entire functional range.

University of Minnesota Medical School
Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455
William J. Kane, M.D. (1463-64-2)*

The evaluation and application of blood flow studies in the treatment and rehabilitation of individuals with avascular necrosis of the femoral head.

University of Michigan Medical School
E-3117, University Hospital
Ann Arbor, Michigan 48103
James W. Rae, Jr., M.D.
(1527-64-3)*

To develop significantly improved upper extremity orthoses as well as to design, develop, and evaluate power and control systems for upper extremity orthotic devices.

Texas Institute for Rehabilitation and Research
1333 Moursund Avenue
Houston, Texas 77025
Thorkild Engen (1564-65-3)

To develop controllable, externally powered, orthotic systems for the restoration of arm and hand purposeful functions in individuals with flaccid and spastic bilateral shoulder, arm, and hand paralysis.

American Institute for Prosthetic Research
400 First Avenue
New York, New York 10010
Henry H. Kessler, M.D.
(1567-65-2)*

To develop further a pneumatic arm for adults including unique valving systems and to develop and test externally powered arm prostheses for pre-school children in the 2½ to 5 year age group with congenital arm deficiencies.

Temple University Hospital
3401 North Broad Street
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19140
Bernard Sandler, M.D. (1643-65-4)

To demonstrate that electromyographic signals taken with surface electrodes can be utilized for control of prosthetic limbs.

Woodrow Wilson Rehab. Center
Fishersville, Virginia 22939
Roy M. Hoover, M.D. (1647-65-1)*

To survey aerospace and industrial technology in order to select practical applications for the needs of vocational rehabilitation.

VII. ORTHOPEDIC DISORDERS (cont.)

Attend. Staff Assn. of the
Rancho Los Amigos Hospital, Inc.
7601 E. Imperial Highway
Downey California 90242
Worden Waring, Ph. D. (1655-65-1)*

To plan a study of the electrical activity of muscles of disabled persons with preparation for the improvement of myoelectric control of functional braces.

Case Institute of Technology
University Clinic
Cleveland, Ohio 44106
James B. Reswick, Sc. D. (1672-64-1)*

A planning project to develop a bio-medical and engineering research program on means of overcoming motor disabilities in man using a cybernetic system approach.

Attending Staff Assn. of the
Rancho Los Amigos Hospital, Inc.
7601 E. Imperial Highway
Downey, California 90242
Worden Waring, Ph. D. (1751-65-3)

To explore the problems appearing when myoelectric control is applied to braces or other orthotic devices of patients having a reduction or absence of some normal abilities and to develop and use myoelectric control where appropriate for patients with various disabilities.

Attend. Staff Assn. of the
Rancho Los Amigos Hospital, Inc.
7601 E. Imperial Highway
Downey, California 90242
Russell Forney, Ph.D. (1783-65-2) *

To device a screening program for selecting students for an orthotic-prosthetics training program based on mechanical aptitude, intellectual capacities and personality characteristics.

Univ. of California, Los Angeles
405 Hilgard Avenue
Los Angeles, California 90024
Charles O. Bechtol, M. D. and
M. N. Anderson, Ed.D. (1793-65-3)

To study use of certain new materials, techniques and devices and to prepare an up-to-date manual on Upper Extremity Prosthetics.

Amer. Orthotics and Prosthetics Assn.
919 - 18th Street, N. W.
Washington, D. C. 20006
Lester A. Smith (1812-65-1)*

To prepare a film to assist in recruiting trainees for careers as orthotists and prosthetists.

VII. ORTHOPEDIC DISORDERS (cont.)

Case Inst. of Technology
University Circle
Cleveland, Ohio 44106
James B. Reswick, Sc. D. (1314-65-5)

To develop a bio-medical and engineering research program on the analysis of motor disabilities in man and on the means of overcoming these disabilities by using an approach involving cybernetic systems.

New York University
Washington Square
New York, New York 10003
Renato Contini (1365-66-2)

To apply the techniques of accelerometric and harmonic analysis to the study of pathological gait in order to develop objective criteria for identification of particular locomotor disabilities.

New York Univ. Medical Center
550 First Avenue
New York, New York 10016
Allen S. Russek, M. D. (1958-M-66-3)

To develop safe surgical techniques for lower extremity amputations consistent with early ambulation; establish practical design, suspension and alignment criteria for immediate prosthetic fitting; evaluate the psychological and economic impact of early ambulation and its effect on vocational potential; prepare a manual of procedures for surgery, immediate fitting and ambulation training principles.

Woodrow Wilson Rehab. Center Fdn.
Fishersville, Virginia 22939
H. E. Watson, Maj. Gen. USAF(R) and
B. A. Strickland, Brig.Gen. USAF
(1961-66-2)

To apply a medical-industry team approach to accelerate the application and production of prosthetic and orthotic developments in order to make new appliances available to patients in the most economical form possible.

VII. ORTHOPEDIC DISORDERS (cont.)

State Bd. of Vocational and Adult Education
1 West Wilson Street
Madison, Wisconsin 53702
Adrian E. Towne (1966-65-1)*

A planning grant to study the effects of immediate post-operative fitting of prostheses on the vocational rehabilitation of amputees and to develop criteria for selecting patients for this procedure.

Attend. Staff Assn. of Rancho of the Los Amigos Hospital, Inc.
7601 E. Imperial Highway
Downey, California 90242
Vernon L. Nickel, M. D. (2136-M-66-1)*

To demonstrate the effective application of orthotic devices in treating incompletely healed lower extremity fractures and degenerative arthritis of the knee and ankle.

Medical College of Virginia
1200 E. Broad Street
Richmond, Virginia 23219
J.B. Redford, M. D. (2137-M-67-2)

To determine the feasibility of using temporary prostheses to shorten the pre-prosthetic period of amputee patient care.

The University of Virginia
Charlottesville, Virginia 22903
Fred Gornick (2159-M-66-2)

To carry out studies on electro-chemically controlled contractile polymers which promise inexpensive and silent orthotic/prosthetic actuators which will operate from low voltage electrical power supplies.

Temple University School of Medicine
3401 N. Broad Street
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19140
Bernard Sandler, M. D. (2169-M-66-3)

To develop an above-elbow prosthesis incorporating myoelectric control of four externally powered axes providing elbow flexion-extension, shoulder and forearm rotations, and hand movements.

New York Univ. Medical Center
550 First Avenue
New York, New York 10016
Ralph Lusskin, M. D. (2229-M-67-3)

A basic research to attempt to modify the healing response of bone by use of plastic encasement; study other disorders of excessive bone formation.
